Auditory Input
and Sensory Processing Disorder

Auditory Overresponsitivity

Child often has hands over ears to protect from loud sounds

Has trouble focusing with background noises around

Afraid of loud noises

Afraid of everyday sounds, vacuum, sirens,

Little interest in going to see movies or concerts

Auditory Underresponsitivity

Child does not follow directions well

Child enjoys background sounds, music, TV, loud sounds

Does not listen when name is called

Sings or hums to themselves when focusing or completing a task

Auditory Activities

Use short sentences and don't talk too much

Play and dance to music

Give child the option of noise-cancelling headphones

Listen to white noise or soft music

Play "Simon says" with music playing

Change up your dance moves - slow and fast!